J. I. COHEN, JR. Secretary,
No. 110 Market-street, Baltimore.

Price of Corn and Flour at Liverpool, Feb. 10.
—American wheat, per. 70lb 14 a 15s, Flour, per. bbl 58 a 60s; sour 40 a 45.

On the 11th Feb. Gold rose eighteen pence per ounce, and was at 4l. 2s. 6d.

We learn that Mr. Pollitticca, at present Secretary to the Russian Embassy at London, has been appointed by the Emperor of Russia his Minister Extraordinary near the U. States. Mr. Politticca was here formerly as Secretary of Legation to Count Pahlen. He was preparing to depart for this country at the last accounts from London.

This appointment, we learn, is made in place of Baron Von Tuil, who will continue in Europe.

[American.]

NEW-YORK, March 28.

The U. States ship HORNET, Captain REED, got under way yesterday and went down to the watering place.—We have before stated that she goes first to St. Domingo, and if conjecture be correct, she will proceed to the Spanish Main and South America. The gentlemen who go out in her, we understand, are clothed with extensive diplomatic powers. It is probable the departure of the Hornet is connected with the unpleasant state of our negotiations with the Spanish government.—Gaz.

BOSTON, March 28.

An attempt was made to stop the eastern mail stage on Thursday night last, in Seabrook, about seven miles from Newbury, by a person who sprang from the road side, seized the reins of the leaders and drew them out of their course. The driver at the same time giving his horses the whip, obliged him to quit his hold. It is unknown what were his intentions.—The mail agent at Newburyport yesterday dispatched a person to make proper enquiries.

P. S.—By the Portsmouth stage we learn that the persons sent from Newburyport on coming to the place where the mail stage was attempted to be stopped, found a pole lying across the road, from which it was concluded that a robbery of the mail was intended.—The mouth of one of the horses is severely cut by the effort made to stop him.

Summary of foreign intelligence from English papers up to the 14th February received at New-York and Philadelphia.

A bill to repeal the law for suspending the Habeas Corpus act, passed the Lords the 28th and the Commons the 29th January. In the discussion, the Attorney-General said, he should move the Court of King's Bench to discharge all recognizances under this law.—They have all been discharged.

Votes of condolence to the Queen, and Prince Leopold, passed both Houses. In the Commons that to the Queen was dissented to by Messrs. Calcraft and Taylor.

Sir Francis Burdett had presented several petitions for a Parliamentary Reform.

On the 3rd Feb. the Prince Regent presented numerous papers to parliament, relating to the internal state of the country, in a sealed green bag. [Papers thus communicated are confidential, and are always referred to a secret committee.]

Lord Stanhope, an opposition Peer, in a debate, said he heard with great pain a report, that the allied troops were to be withdrawn from France. He said he had strong fears of the effect of such a measure in France. Lord Liverpool, in reply, said his Lordship's fears were groundless.

Speaking of the occupation of Amelia, and the publication of the secret journal of Congress, the London Star of Feb. 3 says—"The North American system seems to require, at this time, some official elucidation, and if we mistake not very greatly, it will not be long, that one or more of the governments of Europe will be able to avoid demanding some satisfactory explanation. Britain has precisely the same right to occupy Amelia Island at this moment, that the United States had on the 22nd December last.

The papers express great gratitude for the Newfoundland subscriptions in Boston, New-York, &c. Liberal subscriptions to the same object had been made in London.

Sir Gregor M'Gregor has arrived in England.
